Hebrews Part 2 - Jesus & Remnant: Finality of Jesus ministry in Heavenly Sanctuary

The Gospel According to Paul:
HEBREWS

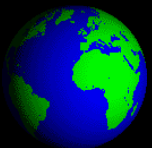

The Earthly and the Heavenly Sanctuary

Past > Present > Future

Introduction

The Once-for-All Sacrifice (Chapter 10): Unlike the repeated animal sacrifices offered daily by Old Testament priests, Christ offered His own body once for all, completely washing away sin and opening a direct way to draw near to God.

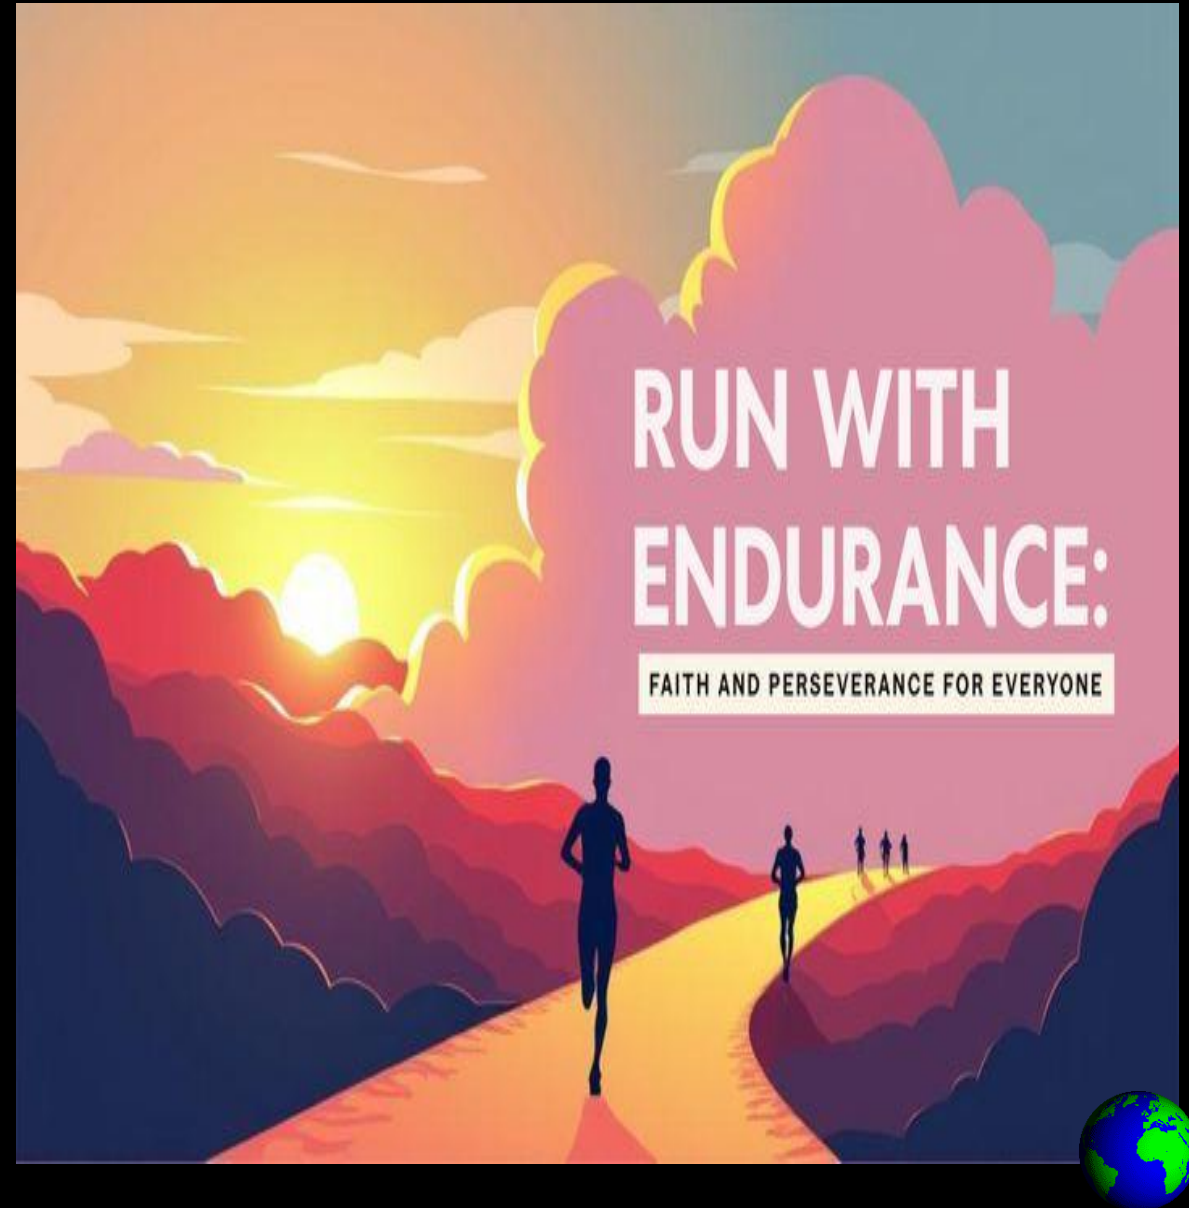

The Hall of Faith (Chapter 11): A sweeping review of Old Testament heroes (from Abel and Noah to Abraham and Moses) who lived, suffered, and traipsed by faith in God's unseen promises, serving as examples for endurance.

Introduction

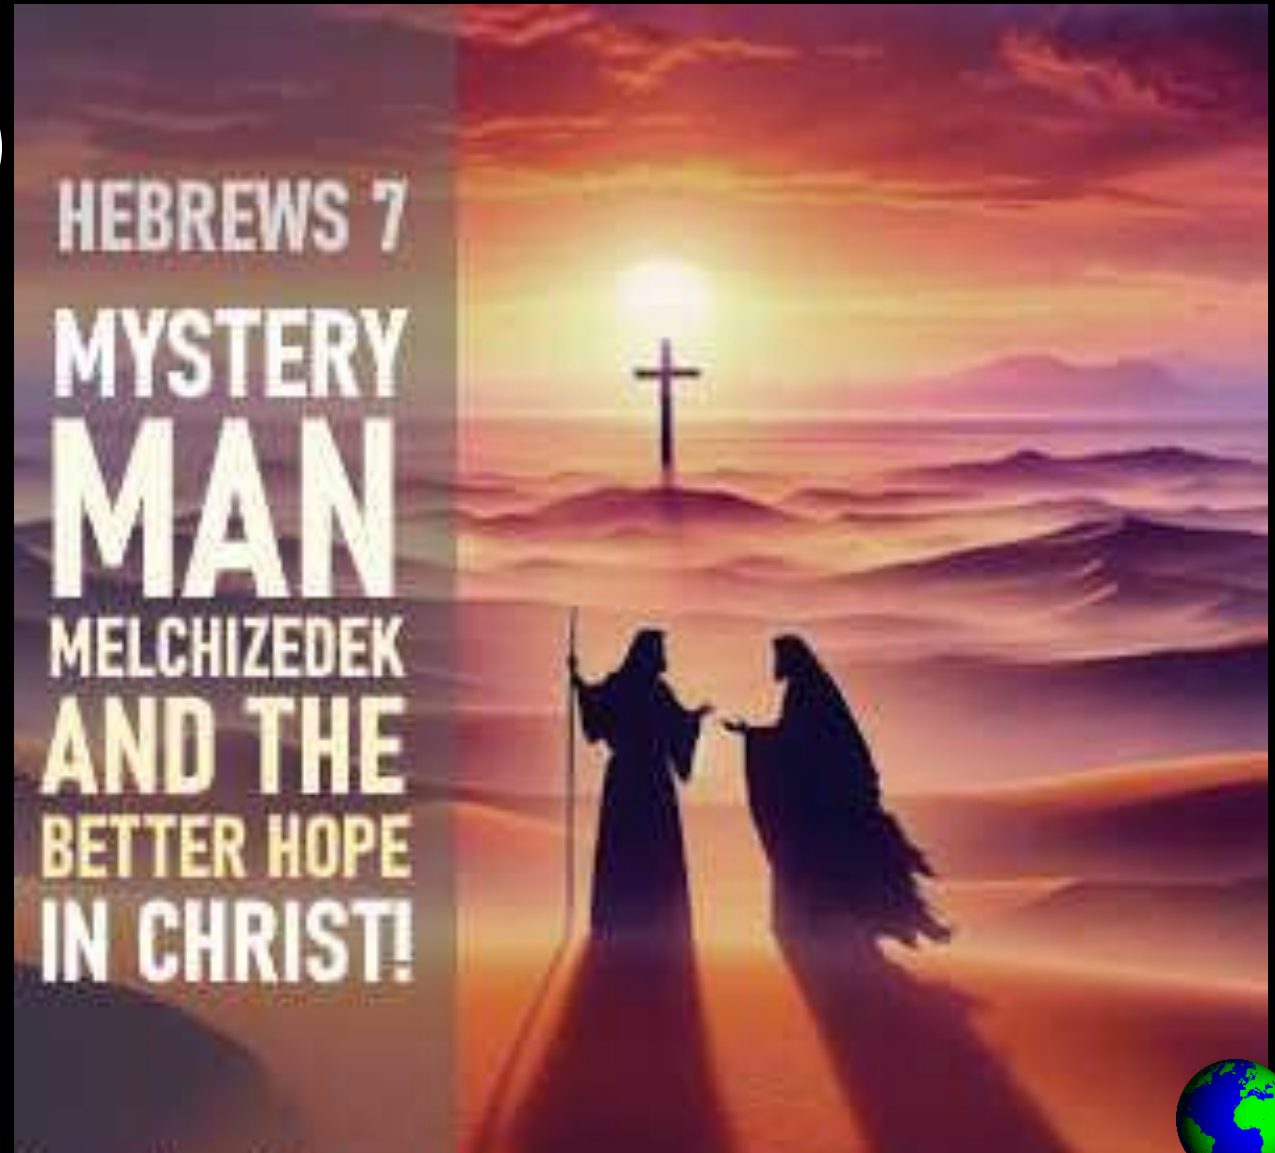

Endurance, Discipline, and Practical Holiness (Chapters 12–13): Believers are exhorted to look unto Jesus, endure God's loving discipline, pursue peace and holiness, show brotherly love and hospitality, and remain loyal to Christ outside the camp despite trials.

The central theme of Hebrews chapters 7–13 is the superiority of Jesus Christ's eternal priesthood, once-for-all sacrifice, and New Covenant, paired with an urgent call for believers to persevere in faith and steadfastness.

3 - Lessons in the book of Hebrews

1. Hebrews 7: The Superiority of the Melchizedek Priesthood

Unlike the temporary, earthly Levitical priesthood, Jesus serves as an eternal High Priest after the order of Melchizedek. Because He has an "indestructible life," His ministry is continuous and unshakeable.

Lesson for the Remnant: This guarantees absolute spiritual security. As the remnant faces earthly systems of forced or false worship in the final crisis, they do not depend on human religious leaders or earthly institutions. Their direct, uninterrupted connection is to an eternal, living Advocate in heaven who can save them "to the uttermost".

2. Hebrews 8 & 9: Heavenly Sanctuary and the New Covenant

Earthly tabernacles were merely shadows; Jesus is the minister of the true, heavenly Tabernacle. Furthermore, the New Covenant promises that God will write His law directly onto our hearts.

Lesson for the Remnant: The remnant's mission is explicitly tied to pointing the world toward Christ's current, final work in the heavenly sanctuary—coinciding with the "hour of His judgment" (Revelation 14:7). Furthermore, because the remnant is defined by keeping God's commandments (Revelation 12:17), Hebrews 8 shows that keeping the law is not legalism. Under the New Covenant, obedience flows from a heart transformed by divine grace.

3. Hebrews 10: Boldness to Enter the Veil and True Worship

Hebrews 10 exhorts believers to have "boldness to enter the Holiest by the blood of Jesus." It also issues a severe warning against drifting away or trampling the Son of God underfoot after receiving the truth.

Lesson for the Remnant: Total focus on the Heavenly Sanctuary gives the remnant courage to face persecution. Additionally, Hebrews 10:25 gives a specific command: "not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together." This serves as a vital call for the end-time community to maintain corporate worship and mutual accountability, resisting the spiritual isolation and apathy of the last days.

4. Hebrews 11: The Endurance of Faith (The Hall of Faith)

This chapter chronicles Old Testament pillars who lived by faith, looking forward to a city "whose builder and maker is God" and dying without yet receiving the physical final promise.

Lesson for the Remnant: The remnant is a waiting people, expectantly looking for the Second Coming. Like Noah, Abraham, and Moses, the remnant must exercise a forward-looking faith. They are called to see themselves as temporary pilgrims on this earth, willing to endure earthly loss and alienation because their citizenship is in the New Jerusalem.

5. Hebrews 12: Enduring Divine Discipline & Final Shaking

This chapter instructs us to run the race with endurance, looking unto Jesus. It also warns of a final, cosmic "shaking" of everything that can be shaken, so that only the unshakeable kingdom of God remains.

Lesson for the Remnant: Adventists believe a "shaking time" will sift the church before the end. Trials and rebukes are not signs of God's abandonment, but His refining process to perfect the character of His people. The remnant must fix their eyes on Christ to survive this final shaking, ensuring their faith rests entirely on His unshakeable kingdom.

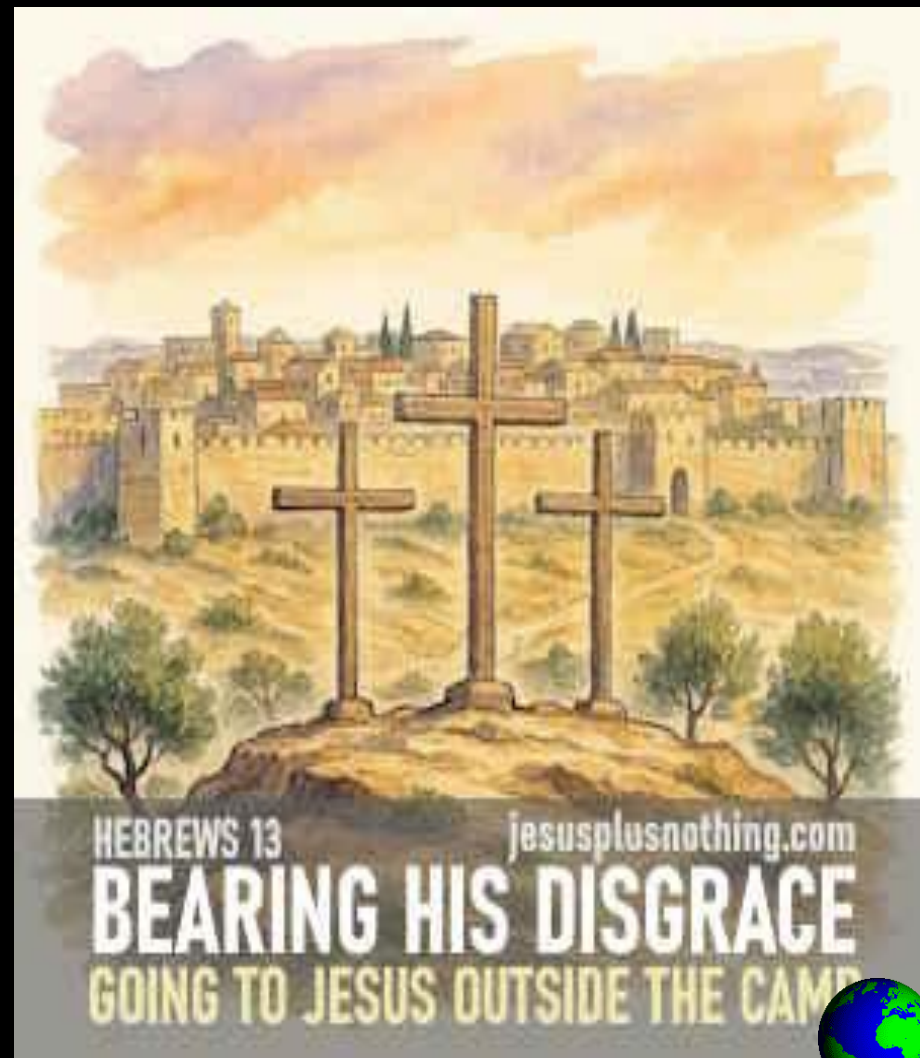

Conclusion

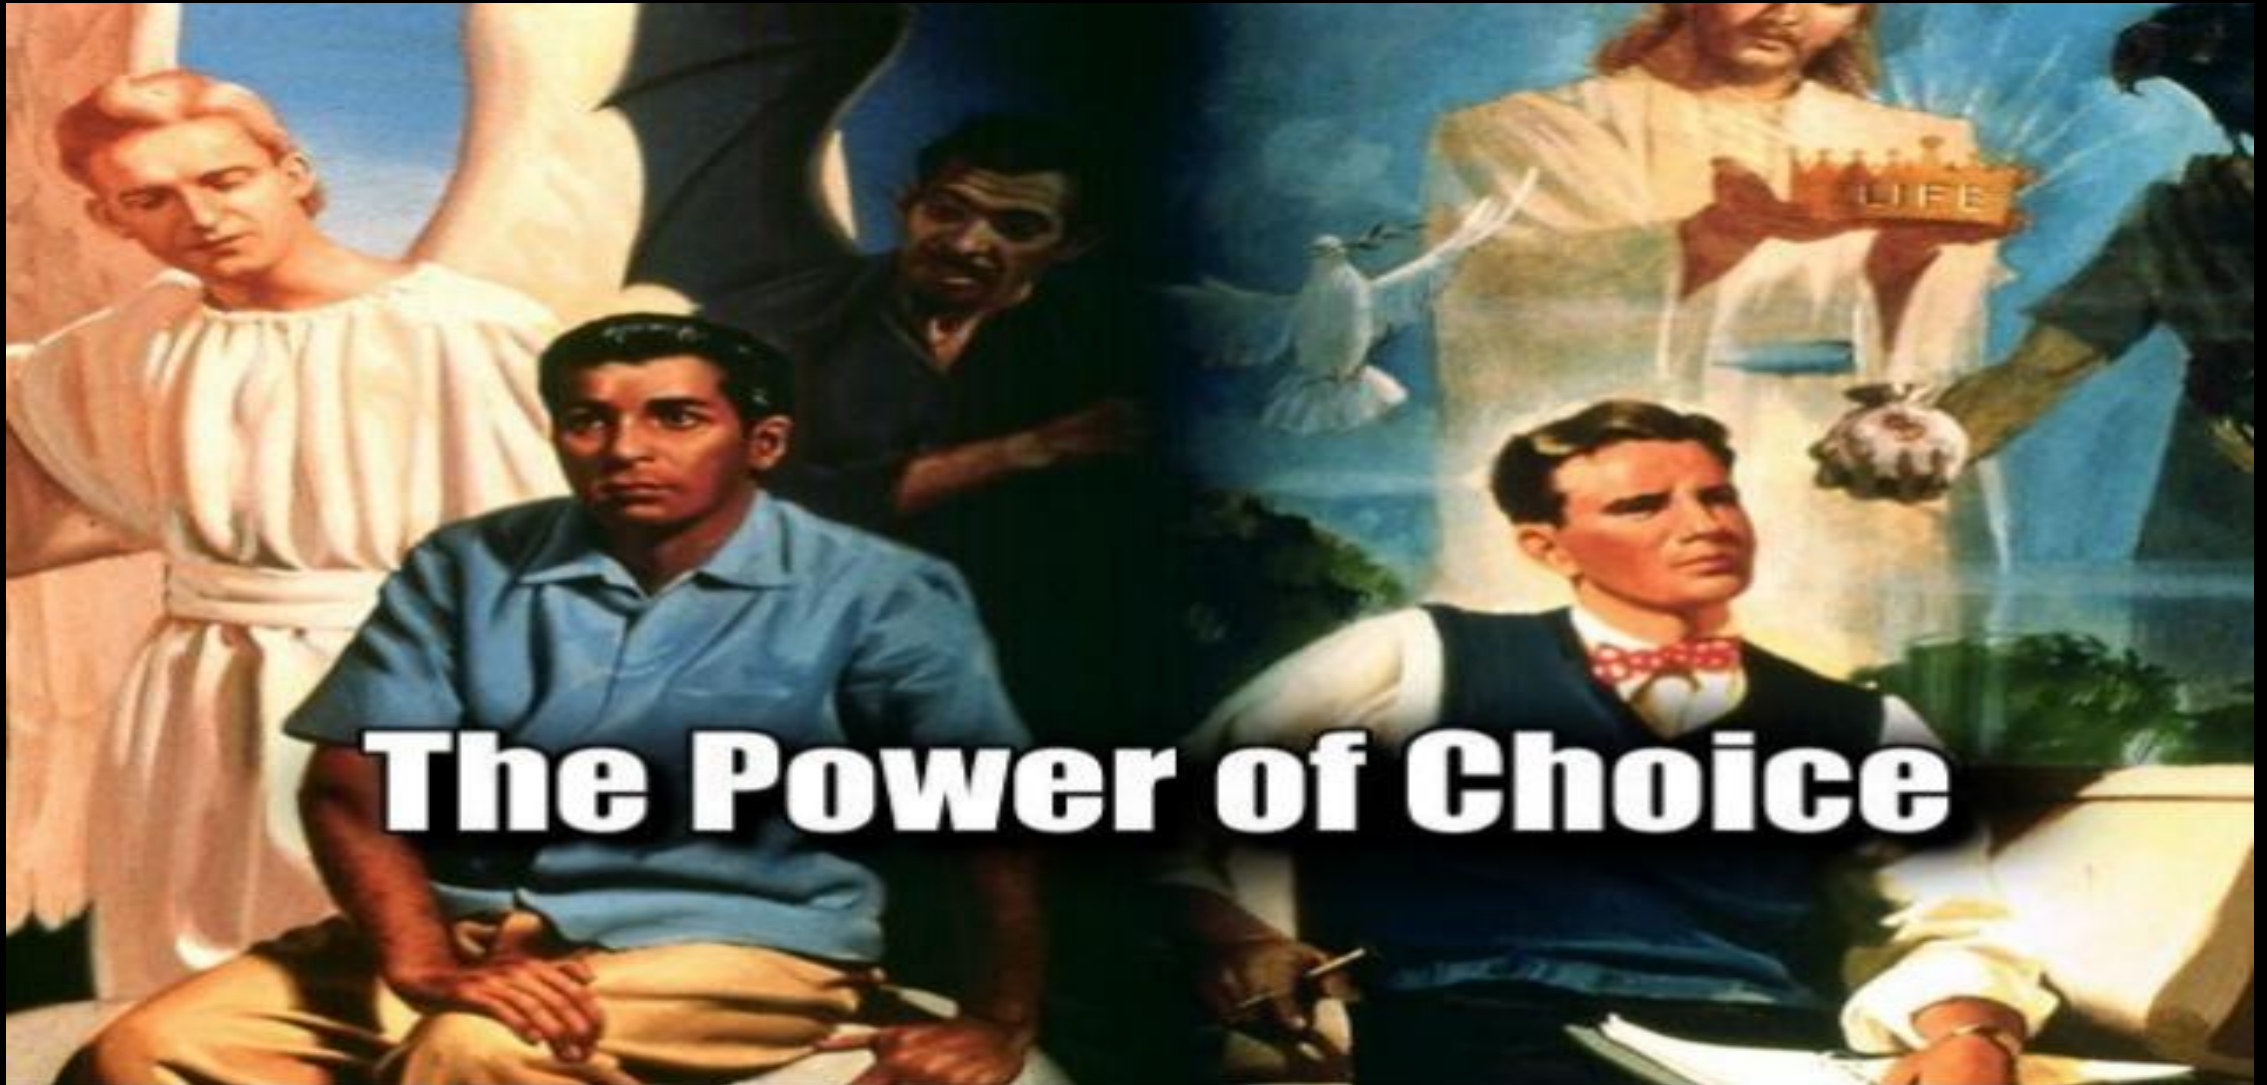

6. Hebrews 13: Practical Godliness, Going Outside the Camp

The book concludes with practical, ethical appeals: maintaining brotherly love, hospitality, purity, and content living. It also tells believers to go to Jesus "outside the camp, bearing His reproach."

Lesson for the Remnant: True theology must result in a visible, loving lifestyle. More deeply, going "outside the camp" means the remnant must be prepared for social and religious ostracization. Just as Jesus was rejected by the religious establishment of His day, the end-time remnant will be called to step away from popular, compromised religious systems ("Babylon") to stand completely side-by-side with Christ.

God has given all:

he hath but a short time.”
